

Jane Pang Acupuncturist

Contributed by Blanche Scharf
Sunday, 03 August 2008

Meet Jane Pang Clermont's Resident Licensed Acupuncturist

Jane is an MD that practiced Acupuncture in China for 10 years. In the United States Jane continued treating patients at the Acupuncture Center of Massachusetts. At the same time she opened a private practice that attracted a loyal following. In New York she used her skills to treat patients with alcohol and substance abuse problems. She was involved in training and supervising other practitioners. At this time she opened another busy private practice which treated cases involving pain relief.

Jane has licenses in Oregon, California, Nevada, New York, and Florida. Her professional associations include:

Massachusetts Acupuncture Association

Oregon Acupuncture Association

Chinese Herbal Acupuncture Association of America, California

NCCA (National Commission for the Certification of Acupuncturist)

National Acupuncture Detoxification Association

Acupuncture Society of New York, Inc.

American Association of Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine

We are fortunate to have someone with excellent credentials and experience practicing in Clermont, one of the oldest and most respected healing modalities of China.

In this section we will discuss the health benefits and conditions that are treated by acupuncture. Clermont has in Jane someone who learned and practiced Acupuncture where it has been practice and understood for centuries. Where an Acupuncturist has been trained and for how long is an important factor in choosing where to go for treatment.

This is her space to talk about Acupuncture and to help educate us in what Acupuncture can contribute to our well being.